BELL'S

Concentra'd Flavoring Extracts!

EQUAL to any in the market and superior to many, in larger bottles, and at old prices.

Wholesale agents for Baltimore, BURROUGH BROS., Wholesale Druggists.

LIST.—Lemon, Orange, Vanilla, Rose, Peach, Nutmeg, Celery, Allspice, Cloves, Ginger, Birch, Cinnamon, Apple, Mulberry, Pine Apple, Banana, Mace, Raspberry, Pear, Pepper, Parsley, Strawberry, Bitter Almond, and Savory spices.

The great difficulty heretofore experienced in procuring true Flavoring Extracts, has induced the proprietor to spare no pains or expense in giving to the public an article which will be found true to its name, and which will in no instance be a source of disappointment.

It will be observed that our extract of Lemon and Orange is a prepared extract from the Peel, which any one may be convinced of by merely smelling them.

The price of Vanilla Beans, too, has caused more useless Extract of Vanilla to be manufactured and sold than any other essence; being either made from Tonka Beans, or some other fictitious compound. In our Extract we WILL GUARANTEE A PURE ARTICLE made from the true Bean, without any foreign substance whatever.

Bell's Worm Syrup.

THE MOST INNOCENT, PLEASANT AND EFFICIENT REMEDY IN USE.—A REMEDY PERFECT IN ITSELF.—No Castor Oil to be Taken.—In this Preparation we have included such remedies only as have been tried for years and are known to possess powerful anthelmintic virtues, combined with mild aperients, pleasant aromatics and sugar. Anthelmintics of themselves cannot perform their peculiar functions or have he desired effect, unless the bowels are kept moderately open. To produce this, gentle purgatives are necessary and such only ought to be used that cannot interfere with the anthelmintic employed. The advantages we claim for this Syrup are:

1st. Its power of DESTROYING AND EXPELLING WORMS!

2d. Its mild aperient effect upon the bowels.

3d. Its pleasant taste and odor are advantages possessed or claimed by very few Vermifuges.

4th. Its harmless influence upon the system, consequently no injurious effects will result from its use should the patient have no Worms, but an apparent disease, arising from some other unknown cause, which is frequently the case.

The constituents of this Syrup and its effects are known to many Physicians, who are now using it in their practice to a large extent.

Price 25 cents a bottle.

The Greatest Liniment in Use.

BELL'S WHITE OIL!—The Blandest, Cleanest, most Penetrating and most Economical Liniment in Use.—A powerful Oleaginus Compound for the Speedy Cure of Rheumatism, Strains, Sprains, Wounds, Numbness of the Limbs, Frosted Feet and Hands, Spavin, Saddle Galls, Poll-Evil, Ring Bone, Bruises, Swellings of all kind, and in fact every disease for which an Embrocation is applicable, either in Man or Beast. Price 25 cents a bottle.—This preparation, which is original with us, will be found to be one of the nicest and at the same time one of the most reliable applications extant.

Having been employed very extensively since its introduction and feeling satisfied of its remedial properties, we recommend it with the utmost confidence, knowing that no one will be disappointed in its use. It is, as its name implies, a white liniment of the consistency of cream, containing nothing offensive, but, on the contrary, will be found more pleasant than otherwise.

Bell's Alterative,

OR CONDITION POWDERS! FOR HORSES, CATTLE & SWINE.

25 cents a paper, or five papers for $1.

The immense sale of these Powders during the short period they have been before the public, is a sufficient guarantee of their great popularity, and the decided benefits derived from their use.

They are confidently recommended not only as a preventive, but as a complete cure for all diseases incident to the HORSE, COW or HOG, as Loss of Appetite, Coughs, Heaves, Yellow Water, Distemper, Glanders, &c., &c.

By their use the Horse's Appetite is improved, all derangements of the digestive organs corrected, softening the skin, and giving to the coat a sleek and shining appearance, and may be used with perfect safety at all times, as it contains no ingredients which can injure a horse, whether sick or well.

They cleanse the breathing apparatus by ejecting from the air cells coagulated matter, or that formation which so severely clogs them, causing a tightness in breathing, and by their peculiar action on that part, they cause the mucus membrane to resume its natural dimensions, thus equalizing the circulation of the blood and restoring the distended vessels to their natural size.

For fattening cattle they are invaluable, also possessing peculiar properties in increasing the quantity of milk in Cows, thereby giving them an importance and value which should place them within the hands of all interested.

All diseases to which the Hog is subject, as Coughs, Ulcers in the Lungs and Liver, and as a general purifier of the blood we guarantee their efficacy if once fairly tried.

MISCHIEF-MAKERS.

Oh! could there in this world be found
Some little spot of happy ground,
Where village pleasures might go round
Without the village tattling?
How doubly blest that place would be,
Where all might dwell in liberty
Of gossip's endless prattling!

If such a spot were really known,
Dame Peace might claim it as her own,
And in it she might fix her throne
Forever and forever;
There like a queen might reign and live,
Where every one would soon forgive
The little slights they might receive,
And be offended never.

The mischief-makers that remove
Far from our hearts the warmth of love,
And lead us all to disapprove
What gives another pleasure;
They seem to take one's part, but when
They've heard our case, unkindly then
They soon retail them all again,
Mixed with poisonous measure.

And they have such a cunning way
Of telling tales. They say:
"Don't mention what I say, I pray;
I would not tell another."
Straight to their neighbor's house they go,
Narrating everything they know,
And break the peace of high and low—
Wife, husband, friend and brother.

O! that the mischief-making crew
Were all reduced to one or two
And they were painted red or blue!
That every one might know them;
Then would the village soon forget
To rage and quarrel, hate and fret,
And fall into an angry pet
With things too much below them.

For it's a sad, degrading part,
To make another's bosom smart,
And plant a dagger in the heart
We ought to love and cherish;
Then let us ever more be found
In quietness with all around,
While friendship, peace and joy abound,
And angry feelings perish.

HEELING-IN TREES.

The nursery man heels-in his trees or "lays them in by the heels" as soon as they are dug, provided there is to be any considerable interval between the taking up and the packing. It is something which may be practiced to advantage by the purchaser of trees whenever they are received from the nursery, and cannot be set immediately they arrive. Indeed, if trees are needed for planting next spring, it is much better to purchase them this autumn, and carefully heel them in for the winter. There are several good reasons for purchasing trees in the fall. The work at the nursery is much less hurried, the stock of varieties has not become reduced, the risks of transportation are much less, and in spring the trees will be on hand just when they are needed. The operation, to be successful, needs only a little care. A trench is to be opened, in a well drained place, wide enough to admit the roots, and deep enough to set the tree lower than it stood before. The trees are placed in an inclined position, to prevent the tops from being too much exposed to the winds, and they are set in close together, the roots being spread and carefully covered as the work progresses, allowing no vacant spaces. The earth is then banked up over the roots to the depth of a foot, trodden hard, and smoothed off to shed rain. Tender varieties of trees may have their tops covered with evergreen boughs. —American Agriculturist.

Husk Mattresses—Cheap, Comfortable, and Healthful.

Our rural friends are very hospitable, and when we visit them treat us during the day with the greatest kindness, but they are often cruel to us at night, and most always consign us to a feather bed, in the smothering depressions of which we pass a sleepless night. That a feather bed is a fit thing to sleep upon, is an idea rapidly disappearing, we are happy to say; yet in many communities feathers still prevail, and they are looked upon as silk dresses are, in some measure an index of the wealth, or competence of the owner. It is quite time that all this was changed, and comfort and health consulted, rather than show. We say comfort,—for no one after having slept for a few weeks on a hard bed, would willingly return to feathers. Curled hair makes the very best mattress, but is expensive; the next best thing is corn husks, a cheap material, and accessible to all. The inner husks, or shucks, as they are called in some places, allowed to curl up a little, are often used without any preparation. A softer bed is made by slitting the husks in strips, half an inch or so in width; a fork may be used to facilitate stripping. The best huskbed we ever saw was made from the husks of green corn shredded by drawing through a flax hatchel.—Husk-beds should be opened about once in six months, the husks shaken out from the fine particles and dust, be sprinkled, and allowed to lay in the sun for a while. Treated in this way the husks will be almost as good as new. We give this timely hint, in order that at husking time, those who would enjoy the luxury of a husk bed may take measures to secure the necessary material.—American Agriculturist.

HORSE STABLES.

It is a fault with most stables that they are built for men rather than for horses. We wish to point out two common errors into which not a few builders are liable to fall in constructing stables, especially those upon farms. The first is in having the doors and upper floor as low as they generally are. On account of the low doors horses instinctively learn to fear them, and they shy, rear or prance, whenever led towards them. They are also among the most frequent causes of pollevil. The horse, when passing through them, is either surprised by something it beholds outside the building, or checked by the voice or gesture of the person leading him, when up goes the head and crash comes the poll against the beam of the doorway. A violent bruise often results therefrom, and a deep-seated abscess follows. Low hay-floors also produce the same trouble. The sudden elevation of the head is, in the horse, expressive of very unexpected emotion. This effect is always noticed whenever you enter the stable rapidly or at an unusual hour. A sudden noise will also cause the same upward motion of the head. With low stables an injury to the horse is almost invariably sure to follow.

Again, the easiest position in which the horse can stand, is when the hind feet are the highest portion of the body, or when the flooring of the stall slants in exactly the opposite direction from what it does in most stables. This is the other error in constructing stables, to which we alluded. Horses at liberty in a pasture invariably stand, when at ease, with their hind feet elevated somewhat, and it is almost a wonder that builders of stables have not improved upon this fact before, and adapted floors to the wants of the horse. The moisture from the horse, if the floor slanted toward the forward feet, would help to keep the forward feet moist, cool and healthy, whereas they are now generally hot, full of fever, and require washing with cool soap suds at least once a day, in order to be kept in a healthy condition. This is not all. Where the floor slants back, the horse not unfrequently attempts to ease the heavy strain upon the flexor tendons of the hind legs by hanging back upon the halter. The pressure upon the seat of the poll stops natural circulation, and in time it developes itself into a deep-seated abscess. We would like to see a stable in which the two errors in building we have pointed out did not occur. If the builder was not satisfied with it, we are sure the occupant would be, and would repay him by long years of good service with unstrained limbs and a healthy system.—Exchange.

Choice Miscellany.

FRANKS, THE ENSIGN.

How the Lion-hunt Ended.

"Uncle Hal, will you tell us a story—one about wild beasts?" said a little boy to his soldier uncle. And accordingly Uncle Hal, who was a very kind, good-natured man, told his little friends the following story:—

When I was quartered at the Cape, a good many years ago, the great thing among our fellows was to go hunting up country. Now hunting in Africa is a very different sort of thing to hunting in England, and a lion a very ugly customer compared to a fox; but, just so much in proportion as the danger is greater, so also is the excitement, and every man with any pluck at all, was sure to be a keen lion-hunter. I had been in India for some years, and knew pretty well what lions were up to, but some of the young hands did not, and used to talk very big of what they would do when their turn for leave, and consequently hunting, came; and, moreover, what fortunes they would make by elephants' tusks, which are, you know, very valuable as ivory; and many a laugh we old stagers had at the subs as they boasted, and killed a dozen or two lions or elephants, in imagination.

Well, my turn for leave came, not long before Christmas, and I determined to get as far up country as I could before the end of the year. Two friends were to go with me, and an ensign—one of the greatest boasters of the whole lot.

At first we saw only antelopes of various kind-, herds of curious looking beasts called the Gnao, and wild dogs; but after we had passed Wuruman, the missionary station where Mr. Moffatt lived, we began to fall in with quaggas, jackals, hyænas, and, last, king lion himself, who made his first visits to our camp at the dead hour of night, carried off a sheep in his mouth, and actually jumped over the poor little ensign, who finding the waggon too close, had lain down by the campfire. When the alarm of "the lion" was given, and the Hottentots all ran, shrieking and yelling, into the jungle, poor little Franks got such a fright that he literally could not move; and so, being in the lion's way, had the satisfaction of a very close view of his majesty; but he got a dreadful fright, and was very quiet for a few days afterward, taking care to sleep in the wagon.

One night, having encamped near a native village, or, as they are called out there, a kraal, we found the poor people in the greatest despair. It seemed the country all around was infested by lions; that, one after another men, women, and children had been fallen upon and devoured, until the poor creatures were too frightened to go out of their village, and, consequently, were in a state of starvation. The sight of our guns seemed to give them new life, and in a body they came praying we would kill all the lions before we went away. That was impossible, of course; but we were nothing loth to have a few days' shooting, so set to work. The first day we went out we did not see one; the second we only heard one; but the third we were more fortunate. We had sent the natives to beat a low, marshy valley, posting ourselves at the most favorable spots for seeing. Franks, who had plucked up his courage, and talked loudly of what he meant to do, was close beside me. We waited about half an hour, when I heard a heavy, stealthy step crush down the long, crisp, reed grass, and had barely time to get behind a tree, and sign to Franks to do the same, when a magnificent lion walked out into the open before us, and, evidently, innocent of our proximity, lay down. I looked at Franks—his cheek was quite white, and his rifle hand shaking like a reed. Poor boy! I thought, he must have the first shot, and so I signed to him to take time and fire, lifting my own rifle at the same time, for I saw that Franks could do nothing in the killing way. Bang! bang! went both barrels, the bullets, of course, going wide of their mark. The lion sprang to his legs and shook his mane, lashing his sides with his tail till they boomed again like an empty barrel. Then he opened his great jaws, and gave a roar that literally shook the earth. I had levelled my rifle, and was on the very point of firing, when I caught a glimpse of Franks climbing a tree with more speed than grace, and looking, too, so desperately frightened, that I could not help laughing, and so missed aim. The bullet struck the lion in the shoulder only, and made him doubly furious. He crouched down and sprang, but the tree was between us; I dodged round, and fired again before he could face about. This time the ball went home and he rolled over dead.

"You won't tell what a fright I was in, captain, will you?" said Franks, as we stood over the prostrate monarch.

I laughed.

"Not if you are modest. Hallo! look out! Do you hear them shouting?" And sure enough the natives were shouting as if they had gone mad.

Scarcely had we loaded our rifles and stationed ourselves, than an immense lion came trotting up the valley, waving his tail from side to side, and every now and then stopping to face about and roar. I gave him the contents of my rifle right in front. He only shook himself, and crouching down, sprang forward, right upon poor little Franks.

I heard the youth shriek, and, rushing forward, saw him below the ferocious brute. His rifle had fallen from his grasp; I picked it up and, hardly knowing what I did, thrust the muzzle against the lion's ribs, and fired. He rolled over stone dead, and I took poor Franks' arm from his huge jaws, and carried him (for he had fainted) to a little pool of water I remembered passing.

He was frightfully mangled, but I saw no danger; and after tying up the wounds to the best of my ability, began shouting for help; and, fortunately, some of the natives coming up, I got him conveyed back to camp, and there had his wounds more comfortably bound up.

He had a severe illness, and, not liking to leave him, I gave up the hunting journey, and went back by easy stages to Cape Town. And so ended my first expedition up country—and my last, for we were ordered to the Crimea soon after.

Franks had gone home on sick leave, and did not rejoin us till a few days before the great engagement on Cathcarts' Hill. He came to me directly after he had reported himself; and very glad I was to see him, although he looked white and delicate. Next day we were under arms, and marching side by side for the hill. There was a pause; then the word "Charge" rang out, and up we went.

Something like fire ran through my breast; a million thunders boomed in my ears, and I felt myself falling, falling, falling; then all was over.

When I came to I was far away from the battle, and Franks was bending over me. I knew I was wounded, and that he had carried me away, and a suspicion that he had done so to shirk his duty came over me, and showed itself too plainly in my face, for he stooped down, and I could hear his heart beating as he said—

"I'm no coward now, Hal; but I've paid my debt. God bless you, old fellow!"

So saying, he ran off.

When I saw him again he was lying stark and stiff upon that glorious hill, shattered with bullets, and men were speaking reverently and tearfully of what he had done. And of all the brave fellows who fell that day, there was not a braver, better soldier than poor Franks as I called him; but I think you can guess his real name, some of you, for when I came home I went and saw his mother and sisters, and—

"Oh, I know—I know!" shrieked little Lucy; "you married his sister. Oh, you dear old uncle."

"It's just what I would have done," remarked the little boy, gravely, who had asked for the story; and then, amidst a chorus of laughing, the party dispersed for the night.

WOULDN'T GIVE IN.

An English clergyman relates the following amusing anecdote;

The most singular reply I ever listened to was made to me last summer, upon the occasion of our school feast, by a carter boy of about fourteen. Everybody had exhibited a tolerable appetite, but this boy had eaten to repletion, so that when I saw him suddenly turn very pale and attempt to rise from the table, I began to fear he had made himself ill.

"What's the matter, my good boy?" inquired I, while a sympathizing throng of philanthropic ladies, who had been acting as waiters upon the company, gathered around the sufferer. "Do you feel unwell?"

"My stomach aches, sir," replied the boy with great distinctness.

"Dear me," said I, (almost suffocated with my endeavors to suppress laughter,) "don't you think you had better go home?"

"No, no, sir," replied the lad with determination. "It will ache a precious sight more afore I ha' done wi' him."

And I am bound to say that he did not submit to the threatened dictation, but devoured two slices of cold pudding in addition to his previous supplies, as well as an enormous bunch of bread and cheese.

A New York correspondent of the Albany Argus relates that a handsome orphan work girl had been for some time courted by a journeyman hatter. One day she pressed him to marry, as she had received disrespectful proposals from a young lawyer. "There is my hand," said she, "marry me directly." The lover, highly indignant at the attorney, was too glad to obey the direction. The marriage took place at the residence of the bride. The evening before the wedding, however, the bridegroom told Mary Elizabeth that he had a secret to tell. He was not a journeyman hatter, but was one of the richest men in the city of Boston, and said he would take her the next day to the beautiful country seat in the suburbs of the modern Athens, which he had inherited from his father and mother, for he, indeed, was an orphan like his bride, his Mary Elizabeth. He had seen her at Barnum's Museum, and resolved to make her his own when convinced of her worthiness.

A plain spoken Western preacher delivered the following from his desk: "I would announce to the congregation that, probably by mistake, there was left at this meeting house, this morning, a small cotton umbrella, much damaged by time and wear, and exceedingly pale in color, in place whereof was taken a very large silk umbrella, and of great beauty. Blunders of this sort, brethren and sisters, are getting a little too common."

A "Big Injin" having strayed from the camp, found himself lost on trying to return to it. After looking about, he drew himself up and exclaimed, "Injin lost!" but recovering himself and feeling unwilling to acknowledge such short-sightedness continued, "No, Injin not lost—wigwam lost; Injin here."

The diameter of the earth's orbit is, as it were, the pocket-rule of the astronomer, with which he measures distances which the mind can no more grasp than infinity. This star-measurer is one hundred and ninety millions of miles in length. This the astronomer lays down on the floor of heaven, and drawing lines from its extremities to the nearest fixed star, or a centauri, he finds the angles thus suspended by this base line to be not quite one second! By the simple Rule of Three he then arrives at the foot that the nearest fixed star is 21,000,000,000,000 miles distant.

From another simple calculation if follows, that in the space around our solar system devoid of stars, there is room in one dimension, or in one straight line, for 12,000 solar systems; in two dimensions, or in one plane, there is room for 130 millions of solar systems; and in actual sider eal space of three dimensions, there is room for 1,500,000,000,000 of solar systems, the size of our own. Nay, good farmer, do not look so unbelievingly. Your boy need not graduate from the district school to prove all this. One and a half million of solar systems, as large as ours, might be set in the space which divides between it and its nearest neighbor. And if we might assume the aggregate population of our solar system to be 20,000,000,000, then there would be room enough for thirty thousands trillions of human beings to live, love, and labor in the worlds that might be planted in this same starless void.

Nay, good-sceptical men, hold on a moment longer. Our sun is but a dull hazy speck of light in the great milky way; and Dr. Herschel says he discovered fifty thousand just such suns in that highway of worlds, in a space apparently a yard in breadth, and six in length. Think of that a moment! and then that no two of them are probably nearer each other than twenty billions of miles; and then, that the starless space between their solar systems might contain 1,500,000,000,000,000 of similar systems! Multiply these spaces and these systems by a hundred millions, and you will have numbered the worlds that a powerful glass will open to your view, from one point of space.

LETTER FROM HOLT TO DIX.

Some weeks ago we exposed and corrected the errors of an article in the Philadelphia Bulletin, in which it was alleged that Judge Holt, and not Gen. Dix, was the author of the celebrated order, "If any man hauls down the American flag, shoot him on the spot." The following letter from Holt settles the question and proves that we were right:

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20, 1866.

MY DEAR GENERAL: I hasten to reply to your note of yesterday, calling my attention to an article in the Daily Evening Bulletin of the 31st of August, in which the celebrated order, "If any man hauls down the American flag shoot him on the spot," is referred to as having been suggested by myself. I know not upon what information this statement has been made, but it is due to you and to the truth of history, to say that I have always regarded you as the author, and the sole author of this declaration. It first appeared, if I mistake not, in one of your official communications while Secretary of the Treasury, and I well remember how I was electrified and gladdened by the words when they fell upon my ears, and how grateful I was to yourself for their utterance at a time when so many hearts were failing, and so many knees preparing to bow to the impending rebellion.

The sentiment of the declaration was true then, and it is true now, and in view of the crimes and carnage of those who have since hauled down the American flag, the sentiment is even more precious to me at this moment, than when you first so bravely and so grandly gave it expression.

Very respectfully and sincerely your friend, J. HOLT.

Major-General John A. Dix, New York.

THE RIVAL OF NIAGARA.

Dr. Livingston, the celebrated traveler, describes a wonderful geographical discovery of modern times. It is the Victoria Falls of the Zambesi river, in the interior of Africa. The cataract is joined by a crack across the river, and plunges down into a deep and dark chasm with a deafening roar. It is broken into several partial falls by rocks and islands, in all making upwards of two thousand seven hundred feet of perennial falls. The whole body of

ADAMS COUNTY.

The official figures of the election in this county, on Tuesday last, will be found in another column. It will be seen that THE WHOLE DEMOCRATIC TICKET IS ELECTED, the majorities ranging from 168 to 263. This result, under all the circumstances, we may well claim as a brilliant victory. The opposition, encouraged by their partial success last fall, went into this canvass determined to win—at least to carry an important portion of their ticket. To this end, they organized more thoroughly than ever before—stumped the county nightly for weeks—denied the real issues of the campaign—slandered the Democratic party and its candidates without measure—begged and bought votes in every conceivable way—and even undertook to cheat the people with imitations of the Democratic ticket.

But all these tricks and manœuvres failed. The Democratic candidates, honest and pure men, and standing upon a patriotic, white man's platform, bravely withstood the assaults of unprincipled office-hunting demagogues, and come out of the contest with majorities handsome enough to satisfy any ordinary ambition. They are proudly sustained by their fellow citizens, whilst their foul-mouthed slanderers are crushingly rebuked.

All honor to the gallant Democracy of "Little Adams!" They made a noble fight, and by doing so, overcame the most determined and rancorous opposition they ever before encountered. Tuesday's work is encouraging for the future. Let us persevere until the whole land shall be redeemed from Radical folly and madness.

THE STATE.

Passion and prejudice have again overcome patriotism and prudence in Pennsylvania. The people were fully and faithfully warned against the infamous schemes of the bold bad men who are now in the ascendant throughout the North. They have allowed themselves to be duped and deluded into the support of measures which must affect disastrously all the best interests of this nation. That they will reap the reward of their folly we verily believe, but with that conviction is mingled the sad assurance that the nation must suffer for the foolishness of those who refused to heed the warnings of history and the earnest entreaties of the wisest and purest statesmen of the land.

The future of this country is shrouded in gloom, and God alone knows how we shall escape the perils which now beset us. There is no reason to believe that the Radicals will exhibit more moderation or decency in the future than they have displayed in the past. The Conservative people who did battle so gallantly on Tuesday are the hope of the nation, and they stand ready to do all that men can do to avert the evils which threaten. It is their duty to stand by the right, and they will do so as firmly in the future as they have in all the past.

☞ The election over, we shall again be able to devote a large portion of our space to news, literary and miscellaneous matter. The Agricultural department will be re-opened, and no labor spared to make it fresh and readable as it was before the campaign commenced. Whilst due attention will be paid to the political questions of the day—and they will not cease to be interesting—we intend to present such a variety of matter every week as to continue THE COMPILER a welcome visitor at every fire-side and in every place of business.

With this issue, our engagement with Campaign Subscribers is fulfilled. All no doubt can, and therefore should take the paper regularly, and we trust that before next Monday they will send in their orders, with the money, for its continuance. The battle against Radicalism must be kept up, until its heresies shall have disappeared, and the country once more restored to old-time peace and prosperity. In this work THE COMPILER will continue to do its whole share.

☞ The Radicals felt quite sure that they could accomplish the defeat of Philip Hann, the Democratic candidate for Sheriff, by making an organized "dead set" at him in all parts of the county.—To this end they had their instruments at work everywhere, and induced Cashman, his opponent, to spend his money freely, and almost get down on his knees in begging for votes. All would not do, however. The people have sustained Philip Hann, and his triumph is the more gratifying because of the desperate efforts made to defeat him.

☞ The Democratic majority in Franklin township last year was forty-six.—During the campaign just closed, McConaughy made four "speeches" in that township, and, as a result, the Democratic majority has been increased to SEVENTY! "Bully" for McConaughy as far as he went!—but we doubt not that four more of his black and vindictive tirades—with "refreshments"—would have run the figures up to one hundred.

☞ In Philadelphia we have gained one State Senator—Gen. McCandless—and three members of the Lower House. The election of Mr. Heltzel in this county is a Democratic gain.

☞ Now that the election is over the Radical leaders are again giving expression to their real sentiments in favor of negro rights. Geary has already done so, and all the rest will follow. Many a poor white man who allowed himself to be deceived into supporting the Radical ticket on Tuesday last, will regret it as long as he lives. The negro has become the pet.

☞ Ohio and Indiana have gone for the Radicals, as usual, but the Democrats gain a Congressman in each.

Trotting at the York Fair.—The great trial trot at the York Fair on Friday resulted in favor of Sterrett's sorel horse "Sneak," he winning the first two heats in 2 minutes 43½ seconds, and 2 minutes 42½ seconds. Marshall's "Grey Bob" made the best time on Thursday—2.57.

☞ A late census gives Paris 1,700,000 souls.

THE RESULT IN THE STATE.

[From the Age of Friday.]

Upon a poll of nearly, if not quite, six hundred thousand votes in the State, the real majority for Geary will not be much above that given for him in this city. Outside of this place the votes are pretty evenly balanced. The rural districts are retracing their steps. The people are emerging from under the war cloud, are feeling the weight of taxes imposed to meet the enormous expenses incurred by the Radicals, and are disposed to change their rulers, and thus alter the policy and acts of the government. Had the contest been fought by the Radicals on principle, and no means used but such as are sanctioned by an honest regard for the perpetuity of a republican, representative form of government, the result would have been far different. But other agencies were relied upon to maintain Radical ascendency. Money was used in profusion. The loyal leagues in all sections of the State acted as the dispensers of money, and debauched and corrupted all who could be reached in that way. This is an expensive mode of holding political power. The contributors to the leagues will tire of supporting an association which is intended to enrich a few corrupt and soulless politicians. The voters are with the Democratic party. Their numbers increase each year. In this city the poll of the Democrats is fast assuming proportions that will defy colonization and other exhibitions of fraud. The same point will soon be reached in the State, and then a fair expression of the judgment of the people will be reached.

There is nothing in the result of the late contest in this State to dispirit the Democratic party. Political power cannot be easily wrested from a party which has enjoyed it for years and used it for one purpose, that of perpetuating the reign of Radicalism in the State and nation. It takes time to break the charm of success, to induce men to abandon old ideas and associations and embrace new ones. But the drift of the tide is steadily and unmistakably in favor of the Democratic party, and those principles upon which alone the States can be reunited, and that union be made perpetual and indestructible. Each contest the majority of the State is reduced. Each election is a step nearer the final overthrow of the present revolutionary faction. These are lessons to be learned from the result of the contest through which we have just passed, and the people should ponder their full meaning.

NATIONAL THANKSGIVING.

Proclamation of the President.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8—The following Proclamation has just been issued:

By the President of the United States?

A PROCLAMATION:

Almighty God, our Heavenly Father, has been pleased to vouchsafe to us as a people, another year of the natural life which is an indispensable condition of peace, security and progress. That year has, however, been crowned with many peculiar blessings. The civil war that so recently closed among us has not been anywhere reopened. Foreign intervention has ceased to excite alarm or apprehension. Intrusive pestilence has been benignly mitigated; domestic tranquility has improved; sentiments of conciliation have largely prevailed, and affections of loyalty and patriotism have been widely revived; our mining industry has been richly rewarded; and we have been allowed to extend our railroad system far into the interior recesses of the country, while our commerce has resumed its customary activity in foreign seas. These great national blessings demand a national acknowledgment.

Now, therefore, I, Andrew Johnson, President of the United States, do hereby recommend that Thursday, the 29th day of November next, be set apart and be observed everywhere in the several States and Territories of the United States, by the people thereof, as a day of thanksgiving and praise to Almighty God, with due remembrance that "in His Temple doth every man speak of His honor."

I recommend also, that on the same solemn occasion they do humbly and devoutly implore Him to grant to our National Councils, and to our whole people, that divine wisdom which alone can lead any nation into the ways of all good. "In offering these national thanksgivings, praises and supplications, we have the Divine assurance that "the Lord remaineth a King forever. Them that are meek shall He guide in judgment, and such as are gentle shall He learn His way. The Lord shall give strength to His people, and the Lord shall give to His people the blessing of peace."

In witness whereof I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed.

Done at the city of Washington, this eighth day of October, in the year of our Lord 1866, and of the independence of the United States the ninety-first.

By the President:

WM. H. SEWARD,
Secretary of State.

☞ That noble statesman, Hiester Clymer, has been defeated, and the political apostate and professional adventurer, John W. Geary, elected. The majority for the latter will, however, be greatly below the Abolition majority of last year. It will be somewhere in the vicinity of 10,000, and for this comparatively meagre majority the Radicals have to render thanks to nothing else than to the systematic hypocrisy so artfully played off by them as to blind the people to the issue, together with the actual defrauding of perhaps 20,000 Democratic voters of the right of suffrage, by means of the bogus "Deserter Law," and the unprecedented expenditure of money for the corruption of the ballot box. We solemnly avow it as our belief that Hiester Clymer, and not John W. Geary, is the real choice of the unco rrupted legal voters of Pennsylvania. —Fulton Democrat.

The Pennsylvania Corn Crop.—It is estimated that the corn crop of Pennsylvania for the present year will amount to about 30,000,000 bushels, being an average yield of 33 bushels for each acre planted. Last year the corn crop of the State amounted, to 35,477,103 bushel, being an average of about 40 bushels to the acre. Last year's crop was valued at $28,833,168.

We can hardly credit this difference of yield in favor of last year. The crop is certainly as good, and we believe better, now, than it was then. Such is the case in this section, and we are inclined to think it so throughout the State.

☞ The Radicals of Buchanan county, Missouri, in the vicinity of Moriah Church, threatened that, on Sunday a week ago, they would take Rev. Wm. M. Rush out of the pulpit and cowhide him. They were on hand at the time, armed to carry out their threat. But the story had got abroad, and the rascals found about twenty young men quietly sitting immediately in front of the pew, each with a navy revolver strapped to his person. Order reigned in Mount Moriah that day.

Rats and the Weather.—In the country west and north west of Dayton, Ohio, the rats are said to be swarming, and apparently migrating south ward, indicating a severe winter. In many places they are so numerous that they have not only destroyed the corn, sweet potatoes and tomatoes, but are climbing fruit trees and destroying the fruit.

MAJORITIES IN THE STATE.

Geary has carried the State by probably 10,000—a small figure upon a vote of nearly or quite six hundred thousand. Another such "victory," and Radicalism is "undone." We subjoin a number of majorities, only a few of them official, however:

The Election in Baltimore.—The municipal election in Baltimore City has resulted in a greatly reduced Radical majority. The Judges refused to allow any parties to vote who have been registered this year. Had this not been done the Radicals would have been utterly routed. The city will be all right at the State election, when the new registration will be enforced throughout the State.

☞ When Parson Brownlow was addressing the Rads at the Erie (Pa.) depot, on his westward tour, he fainted. A skunk can endure its terrible fragrance; a crow delight in carrion, but the stink of Brownlow was too much for Brownlow! Ye gods, but it must be terrible!

A Mistake in a Barber's Shop.—A laughable mistake occurred in a Baltimore barber's shop on Thursday. Two gentlemen hung up their coats and sat down to be shaved at about the same time. One of them for whom the operation was completed first arose, and by mistake donned the other one's coat, in the pocket of which was a wallet containing $2,500. Off he walked, but a policeman soon overtook him. When the charge against him was explained he became greatly alarmed about the safety of his own coat, in the pocket of which was the sum of $5,000. Explanations followed, coats were exchanged, and each found his money.

Horrible Murder and Suicide in Michigan.—A crime almost too horrible to relate, was perpetrated at Morenci, Michigan, on the 3d instant. Mrs. Simms, the wife of a farmer in that vicinity, murdered her four children, by cutting their throats. In the morning the woman prepared breakfast for the family, as usual, and nothing was discovered in her conduct to create suspicion. After breakfast Mr. Simms made preparations for leaving home for a portion of the day, and started off little thinking of the dreadful scene that was shortly to take place at his home, which would not only envelope himself in gloom, but cast a sadness over the entire community. He had been gone but a short time when Mrs. S., taking her four children—all little girls—went to the barn, entered, and, after locking the door, cut the throat of each child, and then destroyed herself in the same manner. One child, with a ghastly wound in the neck, and bleeding profusely, succeeded in dragging herself to the house, and informed a servant, who at once started after Mr. S., and, overtaking him before he reached his destination, informed him of the dreadful tragedy that had taken place. Mr. Simms is the owner of a splendid farm, his house was pleasant, and no cause but that of insanity can be assigned for the conduct of his wife.—Toledo Blade.

Death of Rarey, the Horse Tamer.—John S. Rarey, the celebrated horse tamer, died suddenly at Cleveland, Ohio, on the 4th inst. Last December he had a stroke of paralysis, since which time he had been treated by several prominent physicians. On the 4th instant he left the Wadwell House for a walk, but soon returned, complaining of a pain in the head. After being seated a few minutes he exclaimed, "I am dying," and in about an hour he expired.

Cholera in New Jersey.—The cholera has broken out with such virulence and fatality at Burlington, New Jersey, as to cause quite a panic in that usually quiet locality. There is the greatest alarm, and many of the citizens have left town. The houses in which the deaths have occurred are avoided as plague spots, and in one instance a gentleman found it impossible to obtain proper assistance in the burial of his wife.

TOWN AND COUNTY AFFAIRS.

EXTRAORDINARY RAIN.—A heavy rain set in on Tuesday evening, which continued throughout the whole night. No signs of clearing up on Wednesday, and on Wednesday night it poured down again. So during Thursday and Friday nights. At this writing (Saturday morning) the sun has again made its appearance, and there is a prospect of clear weather.

The Swift Run Railroad bridge was somewhat injured by the high water, but the damage was soon repaired. We hear of fences being swept away along our streams, but no loss of a serious character.

Accounts from abroad detail great damage and some loss of life. Near Baltimore a house was swept away, and a whole family—husband, wife, and four children—were drowned.

Prof. Henry, of the Smithsonian Institute at Washington, says that the quantity of rain which fell there from Wednesday morning to Thursday morning was somewhat more than five inches, being the greatest quantity that has fallen in a similar period for a long time.

NEW PAVEMENTS.—The property holders on Breckinridge street have been putting down new pavements on both sides, either brick or cement, thus adding much their own comfort and greatly improving their properties. We notice the same good work going on in other parts of town, and hope it will not stop, wherever needed, until winter shall prevent its further progress.

SAD ACCIDENT.—A little son of Mr. Daniel F. Pittenturf, and grand-child of Mr. Solomon Powers, of this place, aged about 3 years, fell into a bucket of scalding water which stood near the door of the kitchen, on Saturday week, and was so severely injured as to cause his death the next morning.

DEATH BY SUFFOCATION.—On Friday morning week, the dead body of Mr. George Rosensteel, who resided on Wolf Hill, in Straban township, was found on one of the Lime Kilns of Guinn & Reilly, near the Depot. It is supposed that, the night being chilly, he went there to warm himself, and overcome by the gas, fell upon the kiln, and died from suffocation. Such was the verdict of the Coroner's Inquest.

ALTERCATION—A COLORED MAN KILLED.—We understand that an altercation took place between some colored men in the vicinity of Bendersville, on Friday evening after the adjournment of the Fair, in which a colored man was killed. We are not in possession of full particulars, but understand that a man by the name of Michael proceeded to a house where there were several other colored men congregated. A difficulty arose, and an attack was made upon this man Michael, who in self-defence kicked at the parties, and striking one of them (we believe Woods) in the stomach, injured him so severely that he died from the effects the next day.—Sentinel.

RADICAL ROWDYISH.—The Radicals had a meeting at Littlestown on Saturday night before the election. A number of rowdies among them proceeded to the public house of Philip Hemler, and taking forcible possession of his bar, drank all the liquor they wanted, broke the chairs in the room, and behaved throughout in the most outrageous manner. Mr. Hemler has taken legal steps against the parties participating, and it is to be hoped that the law will be fully vindicated upon these reckless disturbers of the peace and violators of private rights.—It is time that a proper example be made in this direction, and we regret that those who instigate, as well as those who perpetrate, such outrages, cannot be as easily reached and punished.

LARGE SWEET POTATOES.—Rev. Joseph Sherfy, of Cumberland township, has placed upon our table a mammoth Sweet Potato, (or California Yam,) weighing 4¼ pounds! This is the largest of the season, so far as our knowledge goes.

Mr. Jacob Toot, of Straban township, has favored us with a basket of first class Sweet Potatoes, one of them measuring 19 inches in length.

Mr. Francis H. Eckenrode, of Highland township, made us a similar present, all very large.

These gentlemen have "the printer's" thanks.

LARGE APPLES.—A lady friend, in town, sends our better half two splendid Apples—a Tulpehocken and a Red-streak—the former weighing 14 ounces. We are requested to say—Thank you!

☞ Samuel Lilly, Esq., has sold his property, in Mountpleasant township, to Mr. Noah J. Bievenour, of York county.

☞ Horace Waters, 481 Broad way, New York, has disposed of his large Music establishment to Mr. Tremaine. We received, a few days since, three pieces of Music just issued. They are of the first order; and we thank him for them. If he goes on as he has begun, he will certainly gain the confidence of the Musical world.

The Latest Fashions.—Since the invention and successful introduction of the celebrated Duplex Elliptic (or double) Spring Hoop Skirt by Mr. J. W. Bradley of New York, the ladies throughout the country have given up the idea of discarding the fashion of wearing hoop skirts on account of the peculiar and graceful manner in which the Duplex Skirts adapt themselves to every exigency and emergency. So generally acceptable have these Skirts become that the ladies regard them as a special favorite, in view of the superior flexibility, lightness and durability combined in their manufacture. They also consider them a far more economical and comfortable Hoop Skirt than ever has or can be made for all crowded assemblages, for the promenade or house dress. Any lady after wearing one of these Skirts will never afterwards willingly dispense with their use. Long experience in the manufacture of Hoop Skirts has proven to the proprietor of this invention, that single springs will always retain that stiff, unyielding and bungling style which has ever characterized them, whereas the double spring hoop or Duplex Elliptic, will be found free from these objections. Notwithstanding the ability of the manufacturers, Messrs. Wests, Bradley & Cary, to turn out over six thousand Skirts per day from their large manufactories in New York, they feel obliged to request all merchants ordering the Duplex Elliptic Skirts to send their orders a few days before they are wanted, if possible, as they are always most constantly oversold some days ahead.

Terrible Disaster.—The steamer Evening Star, from New York to New Orleans, recently foundered 180 miles east of Tybee, and nearly three hundred lives were lost.

JEFFERSON DAVIS.

We find the following in the Richmond Examiner of the 4th inst.:

RICHMOND, Tuesday, Oct. 2, 1866.

The counsel of Mr. Davis, now in attendance at Richmond, deem it their duty to lay before the public the following brief statement of facts.

WILLIAM B. REED,
J. RANDOLPH TUCKER,
RO. OULD.

On Tuesday, June 5th, there was a formal session of the Circuit Court of the United States at Richmond, Judge Underwood presiding. Grand Jurymen were sworn and other judicial formalities observed. Mr. Davis' counsel were present, ready and anxious to proceed to trial. On motion of the District Attorney, the Court was regularly adjourned to the 2d of October, the presiding Judge using this language:

"The Chief Justice, who is expected to preside at this trial, has named the first Tuesday of October as the time that will be most convenient to him. When this Court adjourns, it will adjourn until the first Tuesday in October next. The motion of the District Attorney is therefore granted. This Court will adjourn, not until November, but until the first Tuesday in October, which time is preferred by the Chief Justice and Attorney General. The case will then, if not before disposed of, be taken up."

In accordance with this order of the court, the undersigned are in attendance here. They find no court, and, except from the information elicited in the following telegraphic correspondence, have no intimations of the Judge:

RICHMOND, September 29, 1866.

To the Hon. John C. Underwood, Alexandria.

As counsel for Mr. Davis we are very anxious to know if you will be in Richmond on Tuesday next, to which day, as you recollect, the Circuit Court of the United States was adjourned. We are in attendance here, and are desirous to be apprised of the views of the court. An early answer will much oblige us.

WILLIAM B. REED,
J. R. TUCKER.

ALEXANDRIA, September 29, 1866.

To Messrs. Reed and Tucker:

There will be no U. S. Court in Richmond next week. J. C. UNDERWOOD.

RICHMOND, September 29, 1866.

Your telegram is received. Permit us to renew the inquiry, whether on Tuesday you will be at Richmond, Norfolk or Alexandria? Your answer will much oblige us.

W. B. REED,
J. R. TUCKER.

ALEXANDRIA, September 29, 1866.

I will be in Alexandria on Tuesday.

J. C. UNDERWOOD.

The Washington correspondent of the New York Times, writing under date of the 4th inst., says:

Mr. O'Conor, counsel for Jeff. Davis, has not had an interview with the President during his present visit here. The counsel state that while at Richmond they telegraphed to Judge Underwood to learn if he would hold Court, and received a reply that he (Judge Underwood) would not go to Richmond. It is not known what steps the counsel of Davis intend to pursue next. So far as the Administration is concerned, it is understood that an order will be made that Chief-Justice Chase, Judge Underwood, the United States District-Attorney and the United States Marshal of Virginia be notified that Davis is held subject to indictment found in the United States Circuit Court, and that these officers be requested to have the proper writ issued, and take the prisoner into custody under the indictment for treason.

The counsel of Jefferson Davis were to have had an interview this week, with Judge Underwood, but for some unexplained reason they have failed to appear. It is stated that the Judge privately says that Davis will certainly be tried in November.

A special telegram from Washinton to the Philadelphia Ledger says:

Messrs. O'Conor and Reed, the counsel of Jefferson Davis, arrived here last night and were in consultation with Judge Underwood to-day upon the subject of the trial of their client. Mr. O'Conor was very desirous that the case should be brought on next month, but failed to receive any assurance that it would be. Reports are current that a writ of habeas corpus will be applied for by the counsel of the prisoner, which will bring up the case in a new phase.

How the President Feels.—The Philadelphia Ledger has the following among its special telegrams:

There was an unusual large attendance of visitors at the White House to-day, who were received by the President in a more than usually cheerful manner. This would imply, and there is other authority for saying so, that the returns from the elections have not disheartened him, but that he is still persistent in the course he has marked out.

☞ The Oregon House of Assembly has rescinded its endorsement of the Constitutional Amendment.

☞ The Democrats have made handsome gains on the popular vote in Indiana.

☞ Dan Rice's big elephant went on a raid in Utica the other night, and consumed the contents of three gardens.

☞ In a single district of India, 2000 people have died of famine in one week.

Cleanse the Blood.

With corrupt, disordered or vitiated Blood, you are sick all over. It may burst out in Pimples, or Sores, or in some hateful disease, or it may merely Keep you listless, depressed and good for nothing. But you cannot have good health while your blood is impure. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA purges out these impurities and stimulates the organs of life into vigorous action, restoring the health and expelling disease. Hopefully cures a variety of complaints which are caused by impurity of the blood, such as Scrofula, or Kings' Evil, Tumors, Ulcers, Sores, Eruptions, Pimples, Blotches, Boils, St. Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipelas, Tetter or Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Ring Worm, Cancer or Cancerous Humors, Sore Eyes, Female Diseases, such as Retention, Irregularity, Suppression, Whites, Sterility, also Syphilis or Venereal Diseases, Liver Complaints, and Heart Diseases. Try Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and see for yourself the surprising activity with which it cleanses the blood and cures these disorders.

During late years the public have been misled by large bottles, pretending to give a quart of Extract of Sarsaparilla for one dollar. Most of these have been frauds upon the sick, for they not only contain little, if any, Sarsaparilla, but often no curative properties whatever. Hence, bitter disappointment has followed the use of the various extracts of Sarsaparilla which flood the market, until the name itself has become synonymous with imposition and cheat. Still we call this compound "Sarsaparilla," and intend to supply such a remedy as shall rescue the name from the load of obloquy which rests upon it. We think we have effected it. In believing it has virtues which are irresistible by the ordinary run of the diseases it is intended to cure. We can only assure the sick, that we offer them the best alterative which we know how to produce, and we have reason to believe, it is by far the most effectual purifier of the blood yet discovered by any body.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral is so universally known to surpass every other remedy for the cure of Coughs, Colds, Influenza, Hoarseness, Croup, Bronchitis, Incipient Consumption, and for the relief of Consumptive Patients in advanced stages of the disease, that it is useless here to recount the evidence of its virtues. The world knows them.

Prepared by J. C. AYER & Co., Lowell, Mass., and sold by A. D. Buehler, Gettysburg.

DEMAND J. W. BRADLEY'S CELEBRATED PATENT DUPLEX ELLIPTIC (OR DOUBLE SPRING)

SKIRT,

THE WONDERFUL FLEXIBILITY and great COMFORT AND PLEASURE to any lady wearing the DUPLEX ELLIPTIC SKIRT will be experienced particularly in all crowded Assemblies, Operas, Carriages, Railroad Cars, Church Pews, Arm Chairs, for Promenade and House Dress, as the Skirt can be folded when in use to occupy a small place as easily and conveniently as a Silk or Muslin Dress, an invaluable quality in crinoline, not found in any Single Spring Skirt.

A lady having enjoyed the PLEASURE, COMFORT, and great CONVENIENCE of wearing the DUPLEX ELLIPTIC STEEL SPRING SKIRT for a single day; will never afterwards willingly dispense with their use. For Children, Misses and Young Ladies they are superior to all others.

They will not bend or break like the Single Spring, but will preserve their perfect and graceful shape when three or four ordinary Skirts will have been thrown aside as useless. The Hoops are covered with double and twisted thread, and the bottom rods are not only double springs, but twice (or double) covered, preventing them from wearing out when dragging down steps, stairs, &c.

The Duplex Elliptic is a great favorite with all ladies and is universally recommended by the Fashion Magazines as the STANDARD SKIRT OF THE FASHIONABLE WORLD.

To enjoy the following inestimable advantages in Crinoline, viz: superior quality, perfect manufacture, stylish shape, & finish, flexibility, durability, comfort and economy, enquire for J. W. Bradley's Duplex Elliptic, or Double Spring Skirt, and be sure you get the genuine article.

CAUTION.—To guard against IMPOSITION be particular to NOTICE the skirts offered as "DUPLEX" have the red ink stamp, viz: "J. W. Bradley's Duplex Elliptic Steel Springs," upon the waistband—none others are genuine. Also Notice that every Hoop will admit a pin being passed through the centre, thus revealing the two (or double) springs braided together therein, which is the secret of their flexibility and strength, and a combination not to be found in any other skirt.

FOR SALE in all Stores where FIRST CLASS skirts are sold throughout the United States and elsewhere.

Campaigns of the

ARMY OF THE POTOMAC,
By WILLIAM SWINTON.

The STANDARD History of the GRAND ARMY. The greatest Work on the War. Universally endorsed by army officers and the press. The AUTHOR says:

"I design in this volume to record what that Army did and suffered in ten campaigns and two score battles."

"I shall have to celebrate the unswerving loyalty of this army, that oftimes when the bond of military cohesion failed, held it, unshaken of fortune, to a duty self-imposed."

"I shall have to follow it through a checkered experience, in a tale commingled of great misfortunes, great follies and great glories; but from first to last it will appear that, amid many buffets of fortune, through "winter and rough weather," the Army of the Potomac never gave up, but made a good fight, and finally reached the goal."

The "Army and Navy Journal" says:

"This is the only American critical work on the late war, and it is thoroughly critical and entirely divested of all political hue or tone."

This is the only History of the "Grand Army," and no one who has borne a part in its conflicts, or is interested in its grand achievements, should be without it.

The work sells itself. The people are tired of political and partizan histories, and want something from official sources. We have Agents clearing over $200 per month. Send for circulars, and see our terms and proof of the above assertion. Address,

Dr. J. In August last I had a very severe hemorrhage, and, according to the

The Great Bone Fertilizer.

RAW BONE PHOSPHATE,

containing 34 per cent, of Phosphate of Lime, and 5.08 per cent. Ammonia.

It should be borne in mind that the Phosphate of Lime in this article being obtained exclusively from RAW BONES and a TRUE BIRD GUANO, there is NO PORTION of it INOPERATIVE, as in the case of SUPER PHOSPHATES made from MINERAL GUANOS—not being entirely SOLUBLE in the SOIL, continues to IMPART its FERTILIZING qualities to the CROPS for YEARS.

The REMARKABLE SUCCESS which has attended its use for years past, is a sufficient GUARANTY to induce those who have not tried it to do so.

The GRAIN CROP where this FERTILIZER has been applied is supposed to have been INCREASED from 25 to 50 per cent. by its use, while for TOBACCO and GRASS LANDS its success has been EQUALLY DECIDED.

The price in Baltimore is uniform with the Manufacturer's Factory Price.

Soluble Pacific Guano.

200 LBS. SOLUBLE PACIFIC GUANO contains 70 lbs. animal matter, yielding 7 to 8 lbs. ammonia.

Also 80 to 90 lbs. earthy bone Phosphate of lime, 30 lbs. of which are soluble phosphate.

It combines all the advantages of the best brands of Super Phosphate, with those of Peruvian Guano.

By reason of its greater concentration, we recommend 20 per ct. less by weight to be used per acre, than of any fertilizer costing the same per ton; and no more per acre than of those selling at 20 per ct. more per ton.—Hence its economy.

This guano weighs 65 lbs. per bushel, hence in applying it farmers must be governed by weight and not by bulk, for it is much lighter than the Super Phosphates. Every cargo duly inspected.

JOHN S. REESE & CO,
GENERAL AGENTS FOR THE SOUTH,
71 South Street, Baltimore.

"Flour of Bone."

WE will give a money guarantee of the purity of this article. It is pure unsteamed, unburnt bone, reduced to the fineness of flour, which adds 100 per ct. to its value. It is as quick and active as acid dissolved bone, hence its value is vastly greater, because it contains neither acid nor water, which necessarily add weight, and reduce the quantity of valuable elements. We recommend 250 lbs. to be used in place of 300 lbs. Super Phosphate or dissolved bone.

The new stock beats anything he has yet offered to this community, and he hopes all the people will come and see for themselves. His new purchase of SYRUPS can't be beat, and he will sell from a pint up to a barrel; his SUGARS are of all varieties, including the very primest; his COFFEES are the best in the market; his FISH are elegant; and his FLOUR extra.

He has laid in a large lot of STONE-WARE, which he offers cheap, and is sure will please—so with his WOODEN-WARE, QUEENS-WARE, LAMPS, PICKLES, SPICES, CONFECTIONARY, Tobacco and Segars, and the thousand other things to be found in his very full and complete Store. By selling cheap, and selling quick, he expects to get along quite as well as those who have greater profits, but sell slower. [June 11, 1866.

FOUTZ'S

CELEBRATED

Horse and Cattle Powders.

This preparation, long and favorably known, will thoroughly rejuvenate broken down and low spirited horses, by enriching and cleansing the stomach and intestines.

It is a sure preventive of all diseases incident to this animal, such as LUNG FEVER, GLANDERS, YELLOW WATER, HEAVES, COUGHS, DISTEMPER, FEVERS, FOUNDER LOSS OF APPETITE AND VITAL ENERGY, &c. Its use improves the wind, increases the appetite, gives a smooth and glossy skin—and transforms the miserable skeleton into a fine-looking and spirited horse.

To keepers of Cows this preparation is invaluable. It increases the quantity and improves the quality of the milk. It has been proven by actual experiment to increase the quantity of milk and cream twenty per cent and make the butter firm and sweet. In fattening cattle, it gives them an appetite, loosens their hides, and makes them thrive much faster.
